BRIDGE AND ROOF PAINTS.

Oxide of Iron Pigments & Linseed Oil.

The use of paints composed of Oxide of Iron will always prove desirable for painting Bridges and Roofs.

Oxide of Iron paints are specially adapted for use in every instance where the chief consideration is to secure durability at lowest point of cost.

These paints are produced by careful and fine grinding of the pigments in Pure Linseed Oil only, and therefore may be used with positive assurance of their being durable and economical.
